

EPrep Week 9 -- The Hover Craft

This week the EPrep students had an individual challenge and had to read and interpret directions. All of our visiting students had a working hovercraft model by the end of the period. We discussed the importance of good written and visual directions, industrial design and perseverance when solving a problem.

